WE NOMINATE

Arthur Stanley Link, 40-year old Virginia-born historian and a former Princetonian, who will return to this community in the near future to undertake direction of one of the far-reaching scholarly projects of the 20th Century—the Papers of Thomas Woodrow Wilson, the 28th President of these United States and Princeton's most important link with the world at large prior to the advent of "The Age of Albert Einstein." Link's recently announced assignment to the University Faculty, a move applauded by The New York Times, accentuates that it was here that Wilson as student, teacher and president laid the groundwork for becoming a spokesman for the era in which America now lives.

While the appointment of Link, a Wilsonian scholar and Professor of History at Northwestern University, does not reverse any trends in a scientific-minded, technology-happy world, it does confirm that Princeton is infinitely more than a center for research in the areas of mathematics, science, engineering, public opinion and testing. Project Matterhorn (thermonuclear fusion), the calculations of mathematical physicists at the Institute, RCA Laboratories, "the polls" and Educational Testing Service are counter-balanced by the Papers of Thomas Jefferson, a nationwide analysis of humanistic studies, fellowship programs and any number of ventures sustained by the University, Institute, Seminary and Choir College.

The bespectacled Link, a member of the University Faculty from 1945 until 1949 and the first scholar charged with editing the private and public thoughts of a 20th Century American statesman, emphasizes that the Wilson heritage is "the common possession of all Americans." It is the hope of the sponsors of the 40-volume project (The New York-based Wilson Foundation buoyed by grants from the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations) that this venture "will illuminate Wilson's contributions" and "will fill gaps about the man and about a period in modern history of utmost importance to students and scholars today."

Currently engaged in the preparation of a seven-volume biography of Wilson, the third of which will be published in 1960 by the Princeton University Press (established by Wilson in 1905 during his tenure as University President), Link first won acclaim in 1947 with his excellent Wilson: Road To The White House. Reviewers, including Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who called the work "a model of political biography," advised readers "to pay attention to this book and to watch for its successors." They apparently did and Link is now the country's youngest editor of a major historical series.

Link, a native of New Market, Va., and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Princeton-founded University of North Carolina with the Class of 1941, completed his doctoral requirements at Chapel Hill and served his Princeton apprenticeship prior to moving on to Northwestern. A member of the Institute for Advanced Study and three years ago Albert Shaw Lecturer at The John Hopkins University, he was during 1958-59 Harmsworth Professor of American History at Oxford University, England, an influential post twice held by one of this community's senior teacher-scholars, Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker.

For his contributions in defining the accomplishments of one of this Nation's truly great presidents, for giving his life to re-creating the aspirations and hard thoughts that led to the League of Nations and ultimately to the United Nations; for dedication to the profession of scholarship and teaching; he is our nominee for

JOINT PUBLIC HOUSING?

Township and Borough Confer. The possibility that Borough and Township might cooperate in a joint public housing endeavor was made known to Princeton residents this week through a memorandum sent to Mayor and Council by R. Kenneth Fairman, Mayor of the Township, and his fellow Committeemen.

Last September 29, Mayor Raymond F. Male and Borough Council members met with Mayor Fairman and his Committee to ask whether six units of the Borough's new public housing could be built on Borough-owned land in the Township.

The Borough has a Federal allotment of 50 public housing units but plans to use only 13 of these. Seven will be located in the Borough, but Mayor, Council and Housing Authority could not find a suitable Borough location for the other six. The units are a necessary part of the relocation requirements of urban renewal.

The Township's housing memorandum is the result of the three months of study ("hours of hard study," in the words of Committeeman John Mount) that followed the Borough's September request. In the eight-point proposal, Township officials say they believe that the Borough's problem may best be solved in the context of a long-range plan for public housing for both municipalities. It is the consensus of the Committee that provision should be made for a public housing site to meet reasonably anticipated joint requirements.

Highlights of the memorandum:

- There would be a public housing area in the Township west of the Millstone, north of Herrontown Road, east of River Road to the Millstone on land now held by the Borough under the joint sewer operating agreement between Borough, Township and University.
- The two municipalities would share equally the public housing units authorized for this site and whatever school costs or other municipal expenses might arise.
- The Township could, if advised, use any of the Borough's surplus Federal allotment of 37 units, and could retain the Borough Housing Authority under a contract agreement, to administer Township public housing.
- At first, units would be located on the 52 acres bounded by Herrontown Road on the south, the National Guard property line on the north, River Road on the east and the National Guard line on the west. Later, the area between the Millstone and River Road would be used, and the two municipalities would cooperate in preparing for the reclamation of this tract, with recreational facilities in mind as well as housing.

Housing Need Studied. Spurred by the Borough's September request, the Township has begun a survey to determine its own public housing needs (See page 2.)

"There is need for some public housing in the Township," Mayor Fairman told Committee Monday night, "but our analysis is incomplete at the moment. The Borough Housing Authority has been very generous in giving housing to Township residents who are in need. There may now be some people living in the Borough who are actually Township responsibilities."

The question of Township need is a question with a deadline. Federal housing officials have set January 20 as the date by which the Township must let the Borough know whether it will require any of the 37 Borough units. Mayor Fairman told Committee Monday that it was "obviously not possible" to do this, but Board of Health officers hope to complete their surveys by January 1.

"We know of at least one case," Committeeman William Marvel said, "in which an owner decided to raze his house rather than repair it. One family in that house is a welfare family with no place to go unless there is public housing available."

"We Must Solve Together." The next move is up to the Borough. Mayor Male has said, "It seems clear that the Princeton community has much to gain from further discussion of such a shared responsibility."

These discussions will be held and there will of course be public hearings on the question in the Township. If the two municipalities agree to the Township's idea, the Township must rezone the area in question. West of River Road is a one and one-half acre zone. Between River Road and the Millstone River, the land is zoned for research.

Certain questions have already been raised by the proposal: Is it legal for the Borough to build public housing on land in another municipality? Where could Township housing go if not on the proposed site?

One question was raised by Mr. Marvel and answered Monday night by Mr. Fairman. "Would the Township have to pay anything if it picked up any of the 37 units?" Mr. Fairman said that the tax dollar would not be affected.

"We must always consider the possibility of consolidation," Mayor Fairman told Committee Monday night. "The problems of Borough and Township can be solved together. If public housing can't be solved in the Borough, there should be a public housing plan which the two communities can share."

SURVEY BEING MADE

To Determine Housing Need. About 180 houses in Princeton Township will be inspected in the next two weeks by the Township Board of Health to help determine the Township's need for public housing. The survey is being conducted by Mrs. Marcella Farley, acting Township Health Officer, and Charles Albanese, plumbing inspector pro tem.

The streets to be surveyed are Birch Avenue (about 80 units), Leigh Avenue (about 80 units), lower Witherspoon (about 10) and lower Alexander (about 10). All structures will be inspected including owned or rented dwellings and business establishments.

"So far, we have found very few structural defects," Mrs. Farley reported. "The buildings we have inspected have been in excellent condition, inside and out."

Mrs. Farley and Mr. Albanese have covered half of Birch Avenue so far. They started their tour of inspection on December 7 and hope to finish by January 1 so that their results will be ready for the Township Committee housing deadline of January 20 (see "This is Princeton").

The two inspectors have found that all homes visited so far have central heating, inside sanitary facilities, hot and cold running water and electricity. The team looks for structural defects such as weak stairs, roofs, sidewalks, basement walls and pavements. They also search the yards and houses for traces of rats or vermin.

"We have found very little overcrowding," Mrs. Farley said, "and only two cases in which there were violations—minor matters concerning garbage and trash."

ROUND-UP

Early-risers will find the sun actually coming over the horizon later each morning for another two weeks, despite the fact that winter begins Tuesday and the days presumably begin getting longer. . . .they do, but at the other end: even before the winter solstice arrives, the sun starts setting later. . . .however, sunrise doesn't begin to make the turn toward an earlier hour until December 30.

Royalty was the keynote of a wedding Saturday in the University Chapel, the bride was Princess Lili Galitzine, formerly of Kazan, Russia, and daughter of the late Prince and Princess Lev Galitzine, last governor of Samara Province, Russia. . . . the groom was Prof. John B. Whitton of the University's Department of Politics.

Municipal offices in Borough Hall will be closed from Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning. . . .Township Hall will close at noon on Christmas Eve. . . . those calling WAlnut 4-2200 in the belief they will get the Post Office will reach Town Topics, which has acquired the number the Post Office discontinued more than 18 months ago. Individuals and firms who maintain lists of frequently-called numbers are advised that the Post Office is WAlnut 1-9563.

Motorists may find themselves confronted with higher fees if the recommendations of Attorney General David Furman are approved. . . .accounting procedures show that it costs $12 to inspect every car once a year, and the proposal is to turn the $1 fee, now too little, into a $2 charge which would permit operating the inspection stations "in the black."

This week's issue carries a statement by former Police Chief John H Smith on the general subject of police morale and the specific topic of the manner in which the recent police tests were conducted. . . .feature stories include an illustrated report on unusual Christmas decorations that have graced the home of Mrs. Richard L. Stoddard for almost a quarter-century, (page 24), and another on a model of a Silver Knight which has sold over half a million copies for a Princeton business man (page 28). . . .included in the 12 pages of classified ads, (35 to 47), is a report that the white rabbit with floppy ears is still on the loose and another announcement that "Cinderella's golden slipper has been found—and it fits!"

MURDER SUSPECT CHARGED With Supermarket Slaying. A 20-month, multi-state investigation spearheaded by Township Detective Fred Porter and Detective Lieutenant James Keegan of Hamilton Township resulted in the arrest Friday of a suspect in the Good Friday, 1958, kidnap-slaying of a Hamilton Township supermarket manager.

Charged in Hamilton Township Court with murder and robbery was Reginald O. Driver, 32, of Ewing Township. He was held without bail for grand jury action after pleading not guilty to both counts.

Police have intensified their search for a possible second suspect in the crime, but Hamilton Township Captain John Bojarski has refused to comment on rumors that detectives know the name of the second man and have been watching him for several months. Driver, who has a long criminal record including a string of 70 robberies in seven counties, was arrested as he finished a six-month Workhouse term for assaulting his wife.

Victim of the slaying was Jacob Mayer, 45, manager of the A & P market in Hamilton Township. Police theorize that Mr. Mayer was abducted when he arrived home after closing the store on the day of the crime, forced to drive back to the market and to hand over $10,655 in cash and $505.17 in checks from the safe.

Body Dumped in Canal. He was then driven in his own car to Princeton Township, police said, where his bound, gagged and apparently already lifeless body was dumped into the Delaware and Raritan Canal near Lake Carnegie.

Dragging operations recovered the body several days later. Mr. Mayer's fire-gutted auto was found nearby. The victim was married and father of a 15-year-old son.

The arrest of Driver climaxed a painstaking search by state, county and municipal police. "There were hundreds of leads which could only be eliminated by long and tedious investigation which took the officers into several states," according to Hamilton Township police.

Detective Captain Bojarski said "the real break in the case" resulted from information obtained by Lieutenant Keegan and Detective Porter from Driver while he was in the Workhouse. Police declined to specify the nature of the information.

Driver Jailed. Driver was lodged in the Mercer County Jail following his arraignment. He has asked for a lawyer, but now the appointment of counsel lies with either Judge Clifton C. Bennett or Judge Arthur S. Lane.

There is no application before either in behalf of the suspect, but it could come this week if it develops Driver is without funds to hire counsel. Meanwhile, Prosecutor Stanley E. Rutkowski is assembling evidence for presentation to the grand jury. He was unable to state how soon the case would come up.

"A Little Happiness . . ."

From the 1959 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal:

"Our forgotten few would include a sad-faced 10-year old, who has become dismayingly quiet since his father's death and has recently started twitching his head to the right whenever he talks; three tots, ranging from one to four, whose widowed mother's one concern is "food, safety and a little happiness for us all"; a beguiling four-year old girl who keeps telling her hard-pressed mother, "I will take care of Johnny," her crippled five-year old brother now in his second year of special schooling away from home; and six-year old Chris, the lone child in a household where his mother has courageously taken over the bread-winner's role from a paralyzed father."

Six days after the appeal was published, contributions totalling $1749.78 had been received. Funds are being sought for a greater number of children than in the past, and the Family Service Agency, which has investigated every case, reports that the need is extreme.

Checks may be made payable to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and mailed to P.O. Box 664. They may also be left at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mercer Street, or at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street.

SMITH HITS POLICE EXAMS

As Theoretical, and Impractical. Former Borough Police Chief John H. Smith has attacked the examinations used to select Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan and Patrolman James Kopliner for promotion to lieutenant and sergeant, respectively, as "a complete waste of taxpayers' money."

Stressing that he feels both men selected for promotion are "fine police officers," Mr. Smith said, "I do not intend at this time or any time in the future to comment upon their individual abilities to assume command. It is instead my purpose to analyze and criticize the method used in selection."

Charging that the selection methods used have caused "great dissatisfaction among the members of the force," Mr. Smith said the oral and written examinations were better suited to find chemists, doctors, judges and essayists than good police officers.

"The examination used was prepared by Dean Donal E. T. MacNamara, a person hired as consultant at a fee rumored as $500," the ex-chief said. "Mr. MacNamara is purely theoretical rather than practical. It is my feeling that the survey of the police department costing over $1,000 which led up to this examination was a complete waste of taxpayers' money since very few of the recommendations of that report have been adopted."

Mr. Smith said it was "ridiculous" to use the same exam for candidates for lieutenant and sergeant, since one post has so much more responsibility than the other." He added that it would have been preferable for the Borough to make use of standard written exams prepared by the State Police and oral exams administered by the New Jersey Police Chiefs Association.

The former chief also criticized the fact that the examining committee passed over the highest ranking men on the written exam and gave the promotion recommendation to one with a better score on the oral quiz. He said he feels "that an experienced police administrator should have been the person to recommend the men suited for the two vacant posts, not a person who has merely studied theory and having no practical experience.

"It would behoove the administration," Mr. Smith concluded, "to check the facilities and services available at nominal cost cost rather than wasting money on theoretical studies for the purpose of streamlining a department that has operated at maximum efficiency. Let them instead study how they themselves might best be replaced with responsible governing officials.

NO LAUREL ROAD

Committee Votes Down Ordinance. Laurel Road will not, for some time at least, be paved through from Mansgrove to Ewing Township Committee voted down the ordinance at Monday night's meeting because all residents of the area had expressed their opposition and because the Planning Board hadn't informed Committee that the improvement was "a public necessity."

Committeemen John Mount recommended that the Planning Board consider a short extension in from Mansgrove with a turnaround at the end, and the possibility that the whole road might be put through at a later date when "public necessity" arises.

Mr. Mount also said he wanted to point out that the Laurel Road situation was "a clear-cut instance in which Township Committee has considered the evidence that exists. We have been accused of being 'cut and dried' and passing every ordinance regardless of opposition. This action shows that such an accusation is not true."

Committee also announced several resignations and appointments to fill the vacancies left by them. Dr. Erling Dorf, Mercer Road, will fill the Board of Health position resigned by Gustave Elsenmann until the term expires December 31. He will then be in line for appointment to a full term.

"We feel that because so much of the Board of Health work is 'underground' with "sewer problems, we need a skilled geologist," said Committeeman William Marvel. Dr. Dorf is a member of the geology department at the University.

James S. Hill, Galbreath Drive West, was named to the Zoning Board to succeed Samuel Frothingham who resigned to become chairman of the Planning Board and Leonard C. Johnson, Overbrook Drive, chairman of the Zoning Board, was named to the Planning Board to succeed Ralph Hagen.

An ordinance to accept a new building code was introduced

News Of The THEATRES

TRIANGLE CLUB SCORES

"Breakfast" Called "A Triumph." The University Triangle Club, composed as it is of undergraduates with at best limited stage experience, is, by nature, imitative. Its songs, however good (and some of them are excellent), are much like other show tunes and its comedy sketches often bring to mind their predecessors. None of the foregoing, however, diminishes the fact that the 1959 show, "Breakfast in Bedlam," which played four performances at McCarter last weekend before beginning its 14-city tour, is a triumph. The show, in virtually all its aspects, would not be out of place on Broadway, and veteran observers testify that it ranks with the very best of the club's 67 prior offerings.

If it is imitative, "Breakfast in Bedlam" can take pride that it is imitating the very best of modern musical comedy, a statement not all of its professional competitors can make. Senior Clark Gesner, who composed most of the fine music and conducted the highly professional 14-piece student orchestra, and club president J. Vinton Lawrence, who wrote most of the 22 sketches and some of the lyrics, should be especially proud of themselves.

The two professionals harbored by the club, director Milton Lyon and choreographer Peter Hamilton, both made notable contributions. The pace rarely lagged and the dancing, particularly in the acrobatic and martially precise takeoff on the Moiseyev Dancers, was frequently breathtaking.

Rockettes Parodied. Probably the most impressive parts of the show were the production numbers: "A Most Amazing Morning," featuring Mr. Gesner's best song of the evening; the Moiseyev takeoff; the return of the Mingo Junction Choral Society, led by the consistently entertaining Art Rosenblatt, and "Salute to Springtime."

The "Salute," an inspired parody of the pretentious extravaganzas involving the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, was highlighted by a wonderful Gesner-composed song, performed in the appropriate quivering tenor by Pete Kingston while "girls" dressed as flowers roller-skated around the stage in formation. Sample lyric: "Salute to springtime, Bird on the wing time. You'll want to sing time, And time again."

Other high spots included "Three Folk Sing," featuring Mr. Rosenblatt, Mr. Kingston and Jerry Fearlman in a merciless dissection of the unmusical, arcane, but super-authentic, claptrap that passes for folk music among the leotard set ("Next, a very old, traditional folk song," Mr. Rosenblatt announced at one point, "called 'The Song of the St. Lawrence Seaway'). Mr. Lawrence was excellent in a solo flight as an old-line Britisher in "James, My Elephant Gun and I."

Pantomime Good. Jet age airplane travel was spoofed in "Flight 707 to Los Angeles," a clever and nicely executed pantomime by Mr. Lawrence and Calvin Fentress. In a surprising programming lapse, however, a blackout pantomime involving a monk and a coin was put forth immediately following the "Flight" sketch, to the detriment of the blackout's effect.

The blackouts and running gags, in fact, were the weakest parts of the production. With one notable exception ("Hello, I'm Constance Chatterley," a rouged wench tinkled, "and I've got a secret"), the blackouts were forced, uninventive and, in one case, unashamedly borrowed from other sources. John Keller's several appearances as the wife of an old Triangle grad may have looked like a good idea on paper, but they were ineffective and almost embarrassingly unfunny on stage.

The show played to capacity houses on Friday and Saturday nights and to good crowds at the other performances; the euphemism that all those present had a wonderful time appeared to be as true as it ever is. If you missed the show at McCarter, it's your loss, but not an irreparable one: "Breakfast in Bedlam" will be at Hunter College Auditorium in New York on Thursday and Friday nights and Friday matinee, and in Huntington, L.I., on January 2. It's worth the trip.

CHILDREN'S PLAYS LISTED

To Start in January. The first in a series of four programs presented annually by the Children's Entertainment Committee of the Borough Parent-Teacher Association will be given in McCarter Theatre on January 19.

"Treasure Island" will be staged as the first of the 1960 series. The Travelling Playhouse, familiar to young Princeton audiences, is the production company.

Other offerings will include folk singer Tom Glazer on February 16; "Marco Polo," also by the Travelling Playhouse, on March 22; and a presentation by the Princeton Ballet Society on May 12. The first season of Children's Entertainments was sponsored here almost 30 years ago.

Season tickets, normally sold out before the first program, may be obtained by mailing check or money order to Mrs. R. H. Parmenter, 175 Hamilton Avenue, or by calling WA 4-0617 weekdays between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. Tickets are priced at 50 cents, 95 cents and $1.50.

Career (December 16-22). Solipsism, the belief that the self is the only existent thing, has doubtless been one of the attributes of many theatrical people since time immemorial; rarely if ever, however, has it been built into the positive virtue which Hollywood has attempted to make of it in its apparently endless chain of self-glorifying confession films. On principle we are generally against outside censorship in any form, but it might be good self-policing practice for the studios to declare a five-year moratorium on pictures set in or near theatres and in which actors, actresses, directors, producers or stagehands have more than incidental roles.

It's not that the theatre cannot be interesting (although it is probably never as fascinating as its practitioners think it is), but the net result of the show-biz epics is a kind of art - imitating-art which is in many ways no more interesting than the shop-talk of most other professions.

The above thoughts come to mind strongly in connection with "Career," billed as Producer Hal Wallis' finest effort in 15 years and starring Dean Martin, Anthony Franciosa, Shirley MacLaine and Carolyn Jones. Franciosa is a dedicated young actor who learns, from cynical producer Martin, wealthy dipsomaniac MacLaine and agent Jones that talent isn't enough to reach the top. This is, unhappily, no doubt true, but it's neither conceived nor executed very originally. On the plus side, all four principals are, as usual, highly competent and persuasive, Martin, especially, turning in one of the best performances of his, pardon the expression, career.

Li'l Abner (Dec. 23-29) is fine fun for those who are attracted to the style of the Al Capp comic strip, and what red-blooded, true-blue citizen of the U.S. of A. is not? Writers - directors - producers Melvin Frank and Norman Panama, who were behind the

A TOAST TO CHRISTMAS

Gifts to Warm the Heart. Fine gourmet foods from the bazaars of the world or from native American kitchens make Christmas presents which are welcome at the foot of anyone's stocking.

For the most particular gourmet on your list, Princeton Gourmet suggests the Terrine de Foie Gras—a crockery tureen of pure foie gras—11¾ ounces for $14.95.

There's a cheese assortment in this shop, priced somewhat more modestly at $4.25 and consisting of, a little gouda, some Danish natural cheese, a bar of cheddar sharp enough to cut itself, a sturgeon smoked cheese and a ring of fine processed cheeses.

The Nassau Del on Palmer Square has cheese in every container you can think of: crock, box, foil, plastic box, basket. There is even a good honest Irish Blarney cheese which the Del will cut for you in one big hunk. (Suggestion for New Year's Eve.)

At Davidson's, you may buy gift cheeses packed in wheel or box. One collection puts the cheese into three brandy snifters: Port du Salut, Edam and Blue.

Tea also comes in colonies this time of the year and Gourmet offers Wagner's Tea Sempler for $2.95, in which you have nine samples to sip from. Jasmine or Bouquet of Spice tea comes in Spice Island's canister: a cylinder of red, orange or black (no pekoe).

Kardomah tea bags at the Del come with a flat little pottery dish shaped like a tea-pot with a face. "I'll Hold the Bag," says the pot.

There's a set for the younger set, too. It's the popcorn popper box at Louise Maas' Candy Shop. For $6, you get a popper, two kinds of popcorn (white and yellow, two bags each), speciel salt, popcorn oil, and a scoop.

Belgian almond butter biscuits from Jules Destrooper come in a 14-ounce box at Gourmet. They are very thin biscuits with almond slivers floating around inside and on top.

For another palate, the Del has cheese caps from Holland: one-inch lozenges of cheese, so short and so full of grated cheese that they dissolve without a chew. You get 80 in an eight-ounce tin, which gives you an idea of the lightness involved.

Easter Bunnies?

There is a specialty shop in Princeton which is always a delight to enter, especially at Christmas time when it is full of the fragrance of Christmas feasting: chocolate and spice, almond marzipan and peppermint candy canes, crystallized violets and cherry cordials.

Gift boxes wrapped with broad red ribbon, candy Santas in bright foil and Christmas wreaths are arranged around the shelves and on the counters.

Into this cornucopia of Christmas came a customer the other day. She looked around. "May I help you?" asked the voice behind the counter. "No," the customer replied, "I'll be back when you have your Christmas things out."

And from Hoboken, of all places, the Del brings real old-fashioned springerle, made by Kirchhoff from a recipe 180 years old. Almond bars and pfefferneuse come from this house, too.

Fruit baskets made to your order—that's the recipe at Davidson's and Schefer's Market. At Davidson's, you can start at $7.50 and go as high up the fruit trees you want to climb.

Still hungry? Choose a jar of honey from the 12-foot shelf at Soup to Nuts on Spring Street . . . buy Escoffier's new sauces in wild strawberry or apricot for 69 cents a six-ounce bottle . . . slip a jar of pickled walnuts into a gift package. Both these at Gourmet.

Drumstick? Turkey, from the stuffing out, might come from Center Poultry and Fish in the Shopping Center. Stewing or frying oysters could go into the dressing or stand by themselves for a holiday midnight supper. Fresh shrimp from the same iced bed is a good way to begin the New Year, and after you've had all the fowl you can eat, you might try a meal featuring fresh fish! Incidentally, everything you buy from Center Poultry and Fish is fresh. There are no frozen products here.

Besides turkeys, the shop has capons, ducks, geese and barbecued or fresh chickens. Allow a few days for your order on things like capons, ducks and geese.

At the Food Mart on Witherspoon, you can get someone else to do the cooking. Turkeys, geese, chickens, pheasants—all will be cooked for you if you give about

Broadway musical of "Li'l Abner," have done a good job of adapting Capp's humor to the screen, and the flawless and imaginative technical production perfectly captures the appearance and spirit of Dogpatch, U.S.A.

The cast is composed chiefly of talented newcomers, most of whom were in the stage play. An idea of what's involved can be implied from the names of the characters alone: Abner himself (Peter Palmer), son of Ma and Pa Yokum; Daisy Mae (Leslie Parrish), prettiest girl in Dogpatch; General Bull Moose (Howard St. John), the richest man in the world, who believes "what's good for Bull Moose is good for the U.S.A."; Appassionata von Climax (Stella Stevens), the general's eye-filling executive secretary; General Jubilation T. Cornpone, who won the Civil War singlehandedly for the North by surrendering his Confederate troops at every opportunity, and, among others, Earthquake McGoon, the world's champion dirty wrestler, Hairless Joe, Evil Eye Fleagel, Lonesome Polecat and Marryin' Sam.

The plot, in the tradition of Capp's not-too-subtle political satires, is incredibly involved and hinges on the fact that the Army has decided to use Dogpatch as a testing ground for hydrogen bombs because it is the most useless place in the country. While the residents are conceiving plots to save their homes, there are a number of pleasant if unmemorable songs and some excellent dancing. "Li'l Abner" is in Technicolor and VistaVision.

THE GARDEN

The Roof (December 15-19) is the latest effort by Vittorio De Sica and Cesare Zavattini, director and writer, respectively, of "The Bicycle Thief" and "Shoe Shine," and let it be said at the outset that it maintains the high standards of its predecessors. "The Roof" is a little less fatalistic than "The Bicycle Thief," in particular, and a quasi-happy ending has been provided.

The talented DeSica, who has virtually turned the Garden into his private projection room over the last few weeks, has again spurned professional actors and the cast is furnished with just-folks in tee-shirts and dirty shoes. The advisability of this policy is debatable, it would seem, since some of the performances show distracting rough edges despite their unquestionable humanness.

The film deals with the housing problem in Rome through the eyes of a young couple who are forced to stay with in-laws but have a burning and natural desire for privacy. According to Romon law, they can obtain squatter's rights to a vacant lot if they can in one night construct a small building and put a roof on it. The efforts of the newlyweds and the unselfish help of their friends and acquaintances are handled sympathetically and interestingly and DeSica wisely steers clear of social - message preaching and lets his story speak for itself. Recommended.

The Hound of the Baskervilles (December 21-26) is an intermittently horrific adaptation of the Sherlock Holmes story by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Leading roles in the Technicolor British film are taken by Peter Cushing, Andre Morell, Christopher Lee and Marla Landi. The hound, who is the most continually diverting member of the cast, is uncredited.

Sir Henry Baskerville (Lee) is the final heir to an estate whose previous tenders have been plagued by horrible deaths at the fangs of the legendary "hound of hell." Understandably anxious, Sir Henry employs Holmes (Cushing) to protect him. It looks for a while as if old Sherlock is going to fluff the job but after about an hour he comes face to face with the snarling brute, lays aside his pipe and dispatches the animal.

Dr. Watson (Morell) paces about anxiously during the story, but since British reserve has triumphed over dry wit since the days when he was played by Nigel Bruce, we are forced to rely for comic relief on Miles Malleson, a village bishop turned entomologist. While the cast performs ably under the guidance of director Terence Fisher, the pace is slowed by Peter Bryan's often dull screenplay.

three days' notice. (Come now, grandmother, of course it will taste just as good as yours. And think—you won't have to worry about grease spots on your new velvet slacks.)

If you would like a suckling pig for a traditional dinner, Food Mart will order one for you—$10 to $12 for a pig weighing 10-15 pounds. Aged beef in this market, too: prime ribs of steaks.

You will find superb holiday sausages in the Food Mart's cases —try them for an unusual flavor. There are sausages from Italy, Hungary, Armenia and Poland, to name just a few.

Sauce and Sweet. Other things you'll need for holiday feasting are dispersed around town in specialty shops here and there. Gourmet has Charlotte Charles' new brandy hard sauce, eight ounces for 60 cents.

Schafer's has those green-ripe olives that are sometimes hard to find, and also some fine green turtle soup to start things off. Why not a fresh pomegranate from this store, to bring a fresh touch to a heavy Christmas dinner?

Viedt's has those delightful ice-cream molds in various shapes but they must be ordered by this Friday — December 18 — for delivery by Christmas Day. If you want them for after the holiday, you can wait a bit. Wallace's wafer thin mints or crystal mints in red and green bell-shapes might go on your Christmas table, too, next to Viedt's salted nuts.

Louise Maas sets a pleasant Christmas table with white styrofoam snowball place-marks mounted on a green gumdrop. A white wreath combined with red cellophane makes another cheerful place-marker.

Moderns will mark each place with a little concoction of dark blue or pink cellophane wrapped around a pink or white tree. For dessert on some happy holiday occasion, serve the snowballs of ice-cream and coconut with a sprig of holly on top. Four for 70 cents, in stock.

("a great step forward for the Township," said Committeeman Mount) and the public hearing will be held December 29. At the same time, Committee will hold a public hearing on the acceptance of Walnut Lane and Dempsey Avenue in the Maplecrest development.

One more mile of new streets was added to the Township system Monday night when Terhune between Harrison and Grover, Randall north of Monroe, Wittmer Court and Howe Circle were accepted.

Mayor Fairman announced that Lawrence Greene, developer of Brookstone area, had deeded to the Township over an acre east of Stonybrook and next to the Johnson Park School. He has also deeded a 20-foot right-of-way which includes the old piers and abutments of the abandoned trolley trestle. The Township can use this as a footpath and footbridge so that Brookstone children who attend Johnson Park School will not have to walk on Rosedale Road, Mr. Fairman said.

In addition: Committee announced that Valley Road sidewalk assessments are in, and that a public hearing will be announced later . . . Stuart Rohson, assessor, said that 83 percent of the Township's uncollectable personal property taxes come from Harrison Street project residents and that 100 percent of the current uncollectables are from that development.

STRETCH A LITTLE MORE

And Fund May Reach Goal. "We have 97.6 percent of our goal," announced John M. Reeder, United Fund Campaign Chairman, in this week's Fund report. About $5,000 is needed to attain the goal of $212,000.

Late returns from eight of the twelve business divisions, have put the campaign $10,000 ahead of last year; however, most of this increase has come from the Research Division and many of the business returns still lag, according to Walter H. Scott, executive director of the Fund.

There are 240 outstanding subscriptions made by firms and employees last year which have not been renewed this year, and they amount to $8,000. The Neighborhood Division has received by mail $200 from 28 subscribers who had been missed by solicitors. The Neighborhood total is now $22,300, an increase of $2125 over last year.

The Whiting Paper Company and its 25 employees have contributed $1,500 to the Business Division. Clement V. Conole is chairman of the board of the company and also vice-chairman of the United Fund campaign. He also served as director of the Special Gifts Division.

Princeton University's employees have contributed $17,740 to the campaign. The sum comes from 803 persons.

LICENSE REVOKED

For Drunken Driving, Jonathan D. Reed, III, 30, State Road, had his driver's license revoked for two years by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams on Monday. He pleaded guilty to driving a vehicle while intoxicated. Mr. Reed was also fined $200 and $25 court costs.

In other cases in traffic court, William D. Cavanaugh, 22, Route 27, had his license revoked for six months and was fined $55 for reckless driving. Stanley J. Stein, 39, 2 College Road, paid a $15 fine for driving with an overdue inspection sticker.

Lucius Bell, 24, 31 Leigh Avenue, and Willie Bennett, 27, 54 Leigh Avenue, were each fined $60 and placed on a year's probation for fighting by Magistrate Tams in criminal court. Both pleaded not guilty.

ACCIDENT FORMULA

Rain + Tranquilizers = Crash. Margaret E. O'Neill, 27, 79 Erdman Avenue, ran into the rear of a Dodge station wagon driven by J. Lowrie McLarty, 39, 59 Longview Drive, last Saturday afternoon in the rain as Mr. McLarty was stopped for the traffic light on Nassau Street at Harrison Street. The impact of the collision threw the two sons of Mr. McLarty, Ross, 7, and David, 6, forward against the car's dashboard.

Police subsequently located Miss O'Neill in Princeton Hospital where she had been admitted for observation of the effect of having taken more than required of a tranquilizer prescription. She also had been involved in another traffic accident at the Princeton Shopping Center, police said, and on her release from the hospital the case will be further investigated.

PROMOTIONS CONFIRMED: After a 72-hour delay to permit further discussion among the Examining Board and several members of the Borough Police Department, Sergeant Peter J. McCrohan (center) was confirmed by mayor and council as the new lieutenant and Patrolman James M. Kopliner (right) was advanced to the rank of sergeant. Chief Raymond Mondone is pictured with them.

ture work will be J. S. Bach's "Magnificat."

Soloists for the "Magnificat" will be Marcia Ramsey, Robert Robertson and Chalmers Brumbaugh. Other songs on the program will be "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio;" "Silent Night," arranged by Robert Wagoner, and "The Conventry Carol," arranged by Salli Terri. Accompanying the choir on the latter work will be Anne Greene, violinist, and Suzanne Rowles, harpist.

Preceding the concert, as in past years, will be Christmas carols performed by a Brass Choir. An introit, "Rejoice, Ye Christian Men, Rejoice," by Praetorius, will be sung by Leanne Leech, Betsey Dinsmore and Miss Ramsey.

The combined choirs will sing "Command Thine Angel" by Dietrich Buxtehude and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." The Alumni Choir will also join in singing the Handel work.

CASE CLOSED

Police Promotions Accepted. After a closed meeting at which procedure methods in determining the basis for promotions were discussed, Borough Council last week confirmed the nominees for lieutenant and sergeant as originally certified by the Police Committee.

A brief, special meeting of the governing body was held Friday afternoon and unanimous approval was given the recommendation that Sergeant Peter J. McCrohan be promoted to the rank of lieutenant and Patrolman James M. Kopliner be named a sergeant. In connection with the disagreement voiced at the December Council meeting by several members of the department, Patrolman Stanley L. Donald said that he was not among those objecting and should not have been listed as opposed to the original selections.

SMITH AUCTION SET

For Saturday, January 9. The Smith College Club of Princeton will hold its eleventh annual auction Saturday, January 9, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Miss Fine's School Gym. Proceeds go to scholarships. Among those awarded scholarships from the $2,000 raised by last year's auction was Miss Elizabeth Grove of 730 Riverside Avenue, Trenton, who is now a freshman at Smith.

Chairman of this year's auction is Miss Betsy Moriarty, with Mrs. James S. Hill as assistant chairman and head of the telephone committee. Mrs. Raymond W. Mitchell is in charge of picking up donations.

Other committee heads are: Mrs. Robert S. Alhahary, small gifts table; Mrs. W. Stanley Brown, display; Mrs. Henry A. Hill, food; Mrs. Russell Kulsrud, soliciting; Mrs. Leighton H. Laughlin, publicity; Mrs. William E. Schluter, hostesses; Miss Nancy J. Scott, auctioneer's helpers; Mrs. Donald C. Spencer, posters; Mrs. John M. Thornley, baked goods, and Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian, Jr., children's table.

Lester M. Sinloff will again serve as auctioneer and will auction off a myriad of articles rang-

Santa Claus Is Happy

It's hard to tell who enjoys it more, Santa Claus or the numerous children who have been talking to him on the telephone this week. In any event, all concerned are delighted with the chance to take a part in perpetuating the Christmas legend.

First day that Henry Schultz returned to his familiar role—for the 11th year in a row—he heard from 66 boys and girls living in and around Princeton. This was an average of better than one every three minutes, and since most youngsters wanted to chat about the upcoming Big Day as long as he'd let them, Santa Claus Schultz was on the telephone steadily for three straight hours.

The time to call is any afternoon from 3 to 6 through Christmas Eve, the number WAlnut 4-3375. (Note to parents: the telephone is in a private home, so calls should be limited to these hours.)

NOTHING GAINED

In Latest Sneak Theft. A sneak thief entered the hallway of the home of Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts, 32 Hodge Road, Saturday at 5 p.m. and snatched a straw shopping bag that contained only a few articles of women's clothing and a woman's empty pocket book. The stolen articles were found the next day on a Morven Place lawn.

Sitting in the living room at the time of the theft were Mrs. Roberts; her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Dunn; and Mrs. Dunn's mother-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Dunn. They described the thief as a They described the thief as a medium-built Negro with smooth features, 25-30 years old, and wearing tan trousers and a tan jacket.

KEEPWELL STATION MOVES

Located in Old YMCA. David T. Blake, Princeton Borough Health Officer, has announced that, effective this Thursday, the Board of Health's Baby Keepwell Station, part of the maternal child health program, will move from Princeton Hospital to its new, larger location in the old YMCA Building, 102 Witherspoon Street.

The Station will be open every Wednesday morning from 10 to 12. Mr. Blake said that its services will be expanded to include instruction to parents and demonstrations in child care. The Baby Keepwell Station, which is free, does not treat sick children but is designed to keep babies well through inoculations and detection of any abnormal developments.

DOGS GRADUATE

From Training Classes. The first Beginners' Class graduation of the Princeton Dog Training Club was held last week in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's school and Sally Campbell, 83 Battle Road, handling a miniature poodle, won first prize.

John Hoyt, Knoll Drive, and Norman Walter of Highstown received trophies. Richard DeVore, Belle Mead, received top honors in the intermediate group.

HOLLY DANCE LISTED

By West Windsor Group. The annual Holly Dance of the West Windsor Recreation Committee will be held Friday evening from 9 to 12 at the Dutch Neck School.

NURSES' DANCE SET

For Saturday at PCD. The annual Nurse's Christmas Dance of Princeton Hospital will be held Saturday at Princeton County Day School. Bill Holcombe and his orchestra will provide the music.

Dance chairman Nathaniel J. McKee will be assisted by a decorating committee consisting of Margaret Vosseler, Nancy Mundy, Agnes Cullen, Mrs. Bette Abercrombie, Mrs. Cevillie O. Jones, Kathryn Sweeney, Jennifer Riddell, Mrs. Catherine Tylus, Stephanie Borick, Valarie Barclay, Mrs. Georgette Preg, Denise Challis, Marilyn Pritchard, Mrs. Judith Hillman, Mrs. Carrie Jackson, Carolina Scharf and Mrs. David B. Miller. The Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital sponsors the annual event.

ACTIVITIES DISCUSSED

By Princeton Music Group. At a meeting held to discuss the club activities for the coming year, the directors of the Associated Music Lovers of Princeton unanimously agreed to give a donation to the Friends of Music of Princeton.

A. E. McVitty, club president, announced he was seeking to obtain a lecturer for the general meeting in January. The latest developments concerning the club's European trip scheduled for late spring were reported by Mrs. Leigh G. Overton.

CAROLING SCHEDULED

In Palmer Square. Princeton and area residents are invited to join the Princeton High School choir in community singing of Christmas carols in Palmer Square on Christmas Eve. Chester Stroup, assistant superintendent of Borough schools, will act as master of ceremonies for the traditional program.

Christmas music will be broadcast over the public address system beginning at 5:30 p.m. Singing of carols will begin at 5:45 and the Christmas prayer will be delivered by the Rev. Charles W. Marker of the Methodist Church. Santa Claus will appear at 6:15.

Thoughts of Winter

Autumn's going—
Let 'er go!
I would rather
Have some snow.

—SKATEN SKI

If the temperature had been right, Princeton would have gotten eight or ten inches of snow out of the inch of rain that fell Saturday. But the thermometer has been well above average since the final month of 1959 began, and more of the same is in store.

Possibly the fact that Winter begins Tuesday morning at 9:35 will have a bearing on the case. A White Christmas? The man wasn't saying at the moment, and the balmy breezes weren't cooperating. Mild, at least through Sunday, was the word.

POLIO CLINIC TUESDAY

Inoculation Offered to All. The monthly Polio Clinic will be held Tuesday from 4 to 5 at the Princeton Hospital Out-patient Department. Available then will be first, second and third shots, as well as the fourth or booster shot.

In spite of the proximity of the holidays, hospital authorities decided not to cancel the December clinic, believing that it is vital for those who have had no shots to get their first two this winter. Health officials point out that protection against polio during the dangerous summer months can only be gained by beginning the program this winter.

In the seven months the Clinic has been in operation, a total of 1,972 injections of Salk vaccine have been given. The Clinic is a county service under the auspices of the Mercer County Chapter of the National Foundation, the Hospital Council of Mercer County and the Mercer County Component Medical Society.

CAROL JOYFULLY!

At YWCA Sing. A family carol sing is scheduled by the YWCA for next Wednesday at 7. The event is open to all interested. Family groups, under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Boynton, will sing Christmas music.

Mrs. Sidney Crane, International Club advisor, will give a short Christmas reading. Paul T. Bortell Jr. will be master of ceremonies.

RALPH HAGEN LEAVING

To Relocate in Hawaii. Ralph M. Hagen, 93 Red Hill Road, a Princeton resident for 18 years, has announced his resignation from the Princeton Township Planning Board effective January 1. Mr. Hagen has also announced his resignation from Gallup & Robinson, Inc., an advertising and market research firm.

Mr. Hagen had been a member of the Planning Board since it began in 1948 and participated in many of the decisions which governed the Township's rapid growth in recent years. A vice-president and director at G & R, he had been with the firm since it was founded in 1948. Previously, he had been a research director at Opinion Research Corporation.

In January, Mr. Hagen and his family are moving to 312 Dune Circle, Kailua, Oahu, Hawaii. There he will engage in research, marketing, advertising sales and service representation, counseling and other professional activities. He is also an electrical engineer and a lawyer and has actively practiced in these fields.

We have over 700 Poinsettias which, due to circumstance beyond their control, will not be home for the holidays. If you can accommodate some, call us now. They are used to TLC (tender loving care) and will reward you by being beautiful, gracious and quite charming guests. FROM $1.50

GOURMET BASKETS

If "ginger pear jam" or "wild beach plum preserve" conjure up tasty visions—you're so right. These basket and tray assortment of home-made Cape Cod jams, jellies and preserves are so delicious we hardly care if we sell them—we'd like to eat them ourselves. Come spoil yourself. FROM $2. Spice Racks, too: the perfect compliment to the good cook. Colorful, practical, reasonable.

CATERING TO THE KISSING TRADE

Texas mistletoe, well-berried and marvelously effective. Box: 50c. (We blush to admit it, but we also have kissing rings. $6)

"COLONIAL CANDLES"

Not an exclusive with us, as so many of our items are, but exceptional quality just the same. We display them properly, price them right and stock the most wanted colors. What else can you say about good candles?

"GAY DECEIVERS"

Our policy of keeping up with trends, has led us to design some exciting arrangements using vinyl plastic flowers. So real, so breathtakingly beautiful that only the bees know the difference. So nice for giving or owning. Smartly styled — last indefinitely.

PEOPLE WATCHERS

Natural-looking feathered friends, $1.25 each. Our scenes using twigs and berries with these "people watchers" in feeding attitudes, are show-stoppers. You will lose your heart to them. FROM $3.50

Obituaries

J. Arthur Amey, 81, of Lake Road, died December 12 at his home. The husband of Mrs. Maggie B. Amey, he was a native of Stoney Point, Penna., and had been a stationary engineer for the Yardville Rubber Company. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose, the Woodmen of the World and the Knights of the Golden Eagle.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Fluck of Doylestown and Mrs. Dorothy Slovinsky; a sister, Mrs. Annie Sassman of Bedminster, Penna.; 11 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild. The funeral was held in St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Keller's Church, Penna. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jennie Cohen, 66, of Fleetwood, N.Y., died December 11 in Penns Neck nursing home. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Cassie Weinstein of Princeton, and two sons, Phillip Carson of Pleasantville, N.Y., and Robert Cohen of Fleetwood.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, with burial in Beth Israel Memorial Park, Woodbridge.

Harrison H. Greene, 45, of 27 Leigh Avenue, died December 9. The operator of the Community Cleaning and Pressing Shop, he served in World War II. He leaves two sons, Harrison H. Greene Jr. and Fred Greene; two sisters, Mrs. George Allen and Miss Annie Greene of Macon, Ga., and a brother, Hiram Greene of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The funeral was held in the Mt. Pisgah AME Church with interment in Beverly National Cemetery.

Mrs. Nina A. Kitchener of Eatonville died December 10 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred H. Wyckoff of Dunellen. The wife of Jacob Kitchener, she was a native of Trenton, and had lived in Princeton and Lawrenceville.

In addition to her husband and daughter, she is survived by a brother, Charles S. Baldwin of Columbus, and a grandchild. The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home with interment in Riverview Cemetery, Trenton.

Vincent G. Lopilato, 58, of 2661 Main Street, Lawrenceville, died December 11 in Helene Fuld Hospital. A Lawrenceville resident for 30 years, he was born in Princeton, and owned and operated The Electric Shop in Lawrenceville. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Ann's Church, Lawrenceville, and the Marconi League of Princeton.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anne Agabiti Lopilato; a son, Robert A. Lopilato; his mother, Mrs. Mary T. Lopilato of Miami, Fla.; and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Fasanella of Princeton. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated in St. Ann's Church with burial in St. Paul's Cemetery, Princeton. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

James A. Murray, 69, of 219 Nassau Street, died suddenly December 12 at his home. He had retired after 25 years with Reilly's Meat Market. A member of Princeton Engine Company No. 1 for 49 years, he had lived here all his life. He served in the 82nd All - American Division of the Army during World War I, and was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret McGloin Murray; a sister, Mrs. Marion Kohlmer of Princeton, and several nieces and nephews. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated in St. Paul's Church with burial in the parish cemetery. The Kimble Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Dorothy S. Patterson, 70, of 14½ Vandeventer Avenue, died December 15 at her home, following a long illness. The wife of Howard A. Patterson, she was born in Syracuse, N.Y.

She is also survived by a son, James Henry, of Griggstown. Interment was at the convenience of the family under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

A memorial service for Alvin H. Schickle, who died December 7, will be held at 11 this Saturday in the Stiles Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

In lieu of flowers, it is requested contributions be made to a memorial scholarship to be established at the Columbus Boychoir School.

Thomas Williams Jr., a former Princeton resident, died December 5 in Freedman Hospital, Washington, D. C. A member of the class of 1932 at Princeton High School, he graduated from Lincoln University, Oxford, Penna., in 1940. He served as a corporal in the Army during World War II, and was a mail clerk in the Post Office Department in Washington for almost 15 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Carolyn Williams; a daughter, Miss Phyllis Davis; and a son, Thomas C. Williams 3d, all of Washington. The funeral took place in Washington with burial in Arlington Cemetery, Va.

Mrs. Mary D. Wood, 80, of 38 Maple Street, died December 10 at her home. A native of Scotland, she was a past chief-daughter of Ruth Rebecca Lodge No. 9, Daughters of Scotia. She was a member of the Shepherds of Bethlehem and the Order of the Eastern Star, Princeton Chapter 91.

Survivors include her husband, James Wood; a son, Richard H. Wood of Princeton; six grandchildren, and a sister and brother in Scotland. The Rev. David L. Crawford officiated at the service which was held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Henredon's Pan Asian

Subtly spiced with Eastern accents to blend with contemporary or traditional.

The thoroughness of Henredon planning and engineering is typified by this unusual dining table. In the closed position it seats four graciously with comfortable leg room provided by the curved stretchers. When more space is needed it will extend to 90", still graceful in design and substantial in appearance . . . for the dining, living or family room. The flush ends of the richly grained cabinets permit them to be bunched or used singly . . . in any room in your home.

it offers this Christmas to people with nostalgia and a taste for old rye.

Dougherty's Pure Rye Whiskey, 100 proof, was stirred up in 1916 and bottled in 1929 when the bottling of 100 proof whiskies was frowned upon in some quarters. As a result, the label says "For medicinal purposes only." Bottle, label and, presumably, contents are still intact, and Pink Elephant offers you all three for $9.76 a pint. A similar rye, made in 1916 and bottled in '28, is about the same price.

A Chinese liqueur distilled from millet decorates the Pink Elephant's cordials section. It's NG KA PY, but whether that's Mandarin, Cantonese or just a trademark, you'll have to find out from somebody else. In any case, there are two varieties, one distinguished by two storks, the other by two stags. Both come in a squat crockery container.

Other liqueurs from Cuba, Greece and South Africa range along the shelf next to the Chinese. There are banana, pineapple and coconut cordials for sippers with exotic tastes.

In the wine department, Pink Elephant has La Guita, a dry Spanish wine whose label says Seaheear de Barrameda. "La Guita" means "the string" and it refers to a string which runs under the label and into the cork so that the cork does not fall on the floor when you pull it out.

Meier has something called a Gigolo package: four bottles, two dry and one pink champagne, one sparkling Burgundy.

Young in Heart. Despite its natural interest in persons over 21, Pink Elephant has a fine corner of soft drinks for children. Or for people who like soft drinks.

Ale and Quail is a specialty here. It's made by Basil Stetson, a Princeton resident, who makes and bottles Ale and Quail and sells it locally through the Pink E. His line includes a fine, dark root beer, non-carbonated orange and grape drink, ginger ale and lemon and lime.

Pink E. also has, for teen entertaining, giant bottles of Boller's root beer, orange, wild cherry and goodness knows what all. None of them has a string under the label.

The Nassau Del, incidentally, has a glass bunch of grapes, realistic as a bunch newly plucked from the vine. It holds Catawba grapejuice.

In the Princeton Shopping Center, Claridge Wine and Liquor makes a point of fine, inexpensive wines, including some chateau bottlings that are surprisingly low in cost. A Chablis for $2.98, for example, or a Meursault for the same price.

Galliano, the Italian liqueor, is a favrite at Varsity where the tall, golden cone-shaped bottle is on the special Christmas table. It's $9.95. Another sweet liqueur, this one made of golden Bartlett pears, is at Varsity, $8.25, thick, sweet and amber in color.

German champagne for travellers comes in a little valise, three bottles and case for $4.35. (Champagne from $2.99 in this store.)

Varsity is particularly proud of its collection of unusual beverages, like Strega, Pernod, Tequille, Kummel, Kassis or Danish Akavit. They also have a fine collection of ice-cubes which they will distribute on order until 10 p.m. through New Year's.

To Decant. We noticed on a recent tour through Yeoman's that distillers are more conservative this year in decanters. Except for Beam's bottle that looks like a bowling pin, decanters look exactly like decanters, which must reassure many who were shaken by the Easter Island idols, coffee carafes and Grecian vases of other years.

On the Yeoman Scotch - and -bourbon table, you'll find Peter Dewson Scotch in cut glass, Old Grand-Dad in faceted glass, Seagram's VO in a plain square bottle, Old Forester in a tall, pinched decanter. Refreshing. Yeoman's, will, of course, rent or sell you the glasses to pour all this into. They also make ice.

An exception to the decanter-for-its-own-sake rule is the collection of cordials poured into Limoges or Havilland china bottles which you will eventually make into lamps or use as vases. All stores have these. Wine & Game and Cousins add Venetian glass decanters, painted with gold and color.

Our favorite is the 18-inch Scot in yellow and green pottery. He holds 100 proof Scotch and he costs $26.50. Cousins is the perpetrator.

Both Yeomans and Cousins display Paul Masson's pleasant set of four sherry glasses, clear and classic, with a heart-shaped bottle

Vintage Glassware

Collectors who cherish fine antiques will derive considerable pleasure from the pieces that have been acquired by the Wine & Game Shop this Christmas.

There is a very large old Tole tray, its colors rubbed and muted, its dimensions ample enough to hold all the pieces we are about to describe except the lamps. Tray is $75.

On the tray is a decanter and five glasses made of ruby-cut glass combined with clear glass ($35). Matching this set is a large sugar and creamer, with deeply scalloped edge, and a small container which could be used for a cigarette urn. Three pieces are $27.50.

Another sugar bowl, deep as a tureen, is white milk glass ($12.50) and there is a white milk glass chicken, too ($8.50). For $12.50, you may have a sandwich glass ashtray and for $35, a splendid clear glass compote with a frosted glass lion's head for a knob on the lid.

The lamps we spoke of are two converted oil lamps with simple cylindrical bases. They have been fitted with cut-out shades to filter the light in pleasant design and they are available for $35 each.

of port or cream sherry. In addition, Yeoman's likes true Madeira, bottled by Luiz Justin Henriques, or Sicilian Creme-Caffee dessert wine. The modern French reproductions, wrapped around Dubonnet, are favorites at Yeoman's, too. Pisarro, Toulouse-Lautrec, Manet, Dufy—there is a long list.

At Cousins on Palmer Square, you'll select a gift-basket of one, three, six or 12 bottles of wine, protected by some gay red cellophane.

For the Bar. Accessories are important at Wine & Game, and in this diversified store, you'll be able to pick up some white plastic roses with a bright Christmas light in each one. A string of 20 lights is $17.95.

For bar or study, hand-carved hanging pheasants might be appropriate. They are $20 a brace. Ducks, if you prefer.

Our choice in Wine & Game is the $4.95 box with a lever on the outside. Turn the switch and the hand inside comes out and turns the lever off.

There are bar accessories at Nassau Pharmacy, too. The cupboard here has highball or old-fashioned glasses with "sick" legends on them.

"Not me. I'm on the wagon." "Drink to ME, Only." "Just an itsy-bitsy one" give you some inkling. We won't attempt to describe the accompanying cartoons. Go take a look. Eight glasses, $6.95.

Sober constituents will prefer milk white tapering coffee mugs, which must surely hold a quart of brew. Each one has its legend and cartoon, just like the glasses: "I don't know why I can't sleep," "From one fair lady to another," "Doc, I'll never give up coffee" and so on. Nassau Pharmacy has them for a dollar.

These are the Gregor chocolates, almost a luxury candy in richness of texture and quality of materials. Buy the Petite Miniatures to eat by the handful. They are gift-wrapped and delivered for you.

Russell Stover unloads his pack again at Thorne's, this year with a beauty of a box wrapped in emerald green satin with almost a whole Christmas candle laid on the green. It's $3.95 for two pounds.

Stover candies generally start at $1.95 for the chocolate miniatures and go up to $6.95 for a five-pound box. There are bittersweet and milk chocolates and pastel assorted cremes.

Candy Cupboard's top is a three-pounder for $3.95. Tobler has a Swiss chocolate assortment in little slabs. You take the Milch-Schokolede and we'll have Zartbitter.

Viedt's chocolate is Fanny Farmer, who introduces this year the Butternut Square at $1.25 a box. Creams, caramels and miniatures come in the Farmer boxes, one-half to five-pound size.

Egg Nog a la Levine

Hosts who face the prospect of entertaining 20 guests out of a wallet which is equipped to entertain only a few will find success in a recipe for egg nog concocted by Ben Levine of Claridge Wine & Liquor.

This brew will provide 20 people with four drinks each and it will cost only $13, including liquor, depending on whether you use Grade A eggs or some you have left over from last Sunday's omelet. Liquor comes to $9.58. Here it is:

3 dozen eggs
2 quarts milk
2 quarts vanilla ice cream
1 quart cream sherry
1 quart Claridge dark rum
1 fifth Blanaxe brandy (available only at Claridge)
1 pint heavy cream.

With economy like this, just think how much you have left over to spend on the finest imported nutmeg!

a one-pound bottle, a chateau bottling from the estate of [illegible] de Paris. Louise Maas is the shop. The bottle is $3.50.

Chocolate, Foiled. Rosemarie's Top is $5 for a pound of Chocolates Celebrite. There are also some exquisite little chocolates in the Midinette hat box.

A nosegay of violet-foil wrapped chocolates makes a charming flower bouquet at Louise Maas. There is also a bunch of chocolate grapes, each foil wrapped in purple. Or gold or aqua, if you wish.

Soup to Nuts has for the holidays the Schick handmade candles from Ringoes; fudge, chocolates and prints in block-cubic supply. Schafer's has the painted tin container of Killarney chocolates and filled candies for the colleen on your list.

Both Thorne's and Louise Maas have a smokers' set for a young puffer. It's two cigars, a pipe, cigarettes and matches, all as chocolaty as you could wish, all wrapped in gold foil. Thorne's also has a hollow cane 30 inches long, filled to the handle with bubble-gum. (Grandmother, if you buy that for the children, I'll never. . . . .)

Also for kinder, Gourmet's gingerbread house at $4.75, with a paper Santa at the door and frosting decorations all around. This house is domestic, in spite of its Black Forest air, but some chocolate tree decorations really do come from Germany. They are foil-covered and quite charming. We liked the little lantern. You get ten for 59 cents.

For people who don't eat chocolate, Russell Stover at Thorne's has rosebud mints, fruit-flavored jellies, and Miss Martin at the same store has hard candies.

Vledt's, Louise Maas and Nassau Pharmacy all have very thin ribbon candy. Everybody vies with everybody to produce the thinnest, thinnest ribbon candy in the world. Wonder any of it holds together. Schrafft makes Vledt's, Sevigny makes Nassau Pharmacy's.

Another stand-by at Vledt's is the barley sugar collection of animals, one of the purest candies you can buy for children. Maple-sugar santas and a chocolate apple ought to fill out the stocking.

And To All, A Good-Night. Sometimes it's fun to give the unusual thing that might remind someone of childhood. Licorice Allsorts at Nassau Pharmacy, for example, or Horner's toffee in tins, or the can of pecan pralines at Soup to Nuts.

The Del has a children's chocolate package from Droste in which endless teddy-bears go down an endless slide when you spin the wheel. What an international bounty at this shop! Cherries Jubilee from Italy for $5. Grecian Turkish Delights (let a historian ponder that one!). Petits Fours Parisiens, English candies by Pascall, dried fruits from California, chocolates from Bavaria, Vienna, The Hague.

Try the Spekulatius, a spice cookie from Germany, make like a rooster, an angel, a Santa Wrap it with Cresca's Petite Flowerpops, surely the most cheerful lollypop in the store.

At Louise Maas, you may buy violets for your love—these are crystallized in a demure box for $1.60. Crystallized roses, lilacs, mimosa and mint leaves are put together in a pot pourri from Toulouse. Candies in the bulk at Louise Maas might be bells, leaves or stars in red or green crystals, cream wreaths or chocolates.

Foil - wrapped chocolate novelties begin with Santas at Vledts and wind in a long parade through Louise Moos, where there is a fat child's purse in chocolate, bulging with chocolate coins, and ending at the Del where there is a gaudy foil Nautilus and igloo, a rocket and a grinning moon. Green cheese? No, chocolate!

This is the final column in our Christmas series of five and with it we leave you for the Christmas season, wishing for you not only abundance but the peace and serenity of the season as well.

JOYEUX NOEL IN PRINCETON: Typical French observance of Christmas is this group of diminutive French Christmas figures, only 1½ inches high, among most unusual of collection of Mrs. Richard L. Stoddard. Called "Santons," the little figures represent members of a French village following the shepherds to the creche, according to old French legend. (Town Topics Photo by Hank Chackowski)

Topics Of The Town

FAIRY TALES COME TRUE

At Mrs. Stoddard's House. Most parents read fairy tales to their children, but Mrs. Richard L. Stoddard of 141 Westcott Road goes one step farther. She brings the fairy tale characters to life each Christmas time by setting up miniature figures of story book characters in stage settings in bookcases in her living room.

The little scenes, a Christmas tradition with the Stoddards for 23 years, began with a simple collection of angels and Christmas trees arranged to entertain their daughter, Ann, at her first Christmas. The next year Mrs. Stoddard added some small animals and began making up stories for Ann about the angels telling the Christmas story to the woodland creatures.

"By the time Ann had grown up enough to be familiar with Mother Goose, it just seemed the natural thing to get some nursery rhyme figures and add scenes about them," Mrs. Stoddard explained. "And we've been adding more every Christmas since then!"

The collection now fills several bookcases, each shelf picturing one or more stories, and each carefully decorated, complete to tiny winking lights framing the scenes. It involves a great deal of work, but Mrs. Stoddard finds this fun, rather than a chore.

"It Makes Christmas." A petite woman with sparkling eyes, Mrs. Stoddard has an obvious abundance of energy and enthusiasm, especially for her Christmas scenes. "Getting the things out, exclaiming over them, setting up the scenes — it's all wonderful," she said. "And the best part is the way children enjoy looking at them. First Ann and her friends, and now the children of my friends. They love coming to see the scenes, and we love having them. It makes Christmas for us!"

Topics of the scenes range from Cinderella and Chicken Little to Pinocchio and Puss-in-Boots, from the Princess and the Frog to St. George and the Dragon. There's also a Santa Claus land, of course, complete with reindeer and a special train.

While Mrs. Stoddard has found most of the figures in various shops, several have been donated by children who were enchanted with the display and wanted to have a part in it. The buildings forming the background for one scene, for instance, came from the cherished collection of a little girl, while St. George's dragon was painstakingly created out of clay by a small boy.

Most unusual of the scenes is a collection of Santons, which are Christmas figures from France. The only other such collection in Princeton, Mrs. Stoddard believes, is that belonging to Miss Shirley Davis, headmistress of Miss Fine's School.

Based on Legend. The Santons, a tradition in France, are based on the legend that the shepherds went through the villages of France, trailed by the villagers, as they spread the glad tidings of the birth of the Christ child. The little figures, only one-and-a-half inches high, are a standard fixture in most French homes during the holidays. Virtually all the possible residents of a village are represented, including the mayor, the cure, the woodcutter, the fisherman and even the scissors grinder.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE PRINCETON HOSPITAL SERVICE AREA:

We are using this advertisement to contact all residents of the Princeton Hospital service area who are not yet on the hospital's list of contributors.

The shortage of nurses is the most critical problem facing Princeton Hospital today. Last year your hospital took a necessary step toward its solution. We announced plans for the establishment of a School of Practical Nursing, to be housed in a new addition to Lambert House, our nurses' home.

Since we did not have the money to meet construction costs, we had to appeal to the people using the hospital to help us help them when they needed nursing care.

ALL BUT $57,500 HAS BEEN PAID FOR.

THIS IS THE AMOUNT THAT IS NEEDED NOW.

A contribution of $20.00 from each family in the hospital service area would pay for this vitally important project. However, some residents are not financially able to make this contribution and, therefore, others will need to give more. Your contribution is not a gift to the hospital as such, but rather an insurance payment on the future, so that an adequate supply of nurses will be available when you and the community need them.

Won't you sit down now — consider your contribution, thinking of how important nurses are to you whenever you or your family need them, whether at home or in the hospital — and then return the attached coupon with your gift?

PRINCETON HOSPITAL, PRINCETON, N. J.

I am enclosing $..... as my contribution toward paying for the construction of a School of Practical Nursing, to be housed in a new addition to Lambert House.

BRAINS VS. BRAWN: The question of whether brains or brawn is more desirable in a man is immaterial to Evon Kochey (left) — she says she loves them all. Joanne Madden hedges somewhat in saying that it depends on what you want them for. For the choice other Princetonians make, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you prefer brawn or brains in a man, and why?

Where asked: Near the post office.

Mrs. Henry Broad, 41 Pardoe Road, housewife: Brains. In the long run, a man with brains will prove more stimulating than one with brawn and will contribute more to the world.

Mrs. H. J. White, 64 Stanworth Lane, housewife: I prefer a happy combination. I believe that is the most normal thing.

Mrs. Richard Addiss, 2976 Princeton Pike, housewife: I prefer brains. First of all, because my husband has them and, secondly, they're almost a necessity today—a man can't get a decent job without them.

Mrs. I. R. Riker, 25 Harriet Drive, housewife: A little bit of both. I have some sons-in-law that have mostly brains and some that are mostly brawn and it is nice to have both kinds.

Miss Anne Babweck, 31 Greenhouse Drive, sales clerk: Brains, because I like somebody who is interesting to talk to. If I want to look at brawn, I can look at wrestling on TV.

Mrs. Patrick Long, 43 Maple Street, housewife: I think brains, because if a man has brains he can get on better, make more money, and live a better life.

Miss Barbara Bowman, 43 Palmer Square, secretary: A combination of both. I think I'd be attracted to him by his brawn and then, after I got to know him, if he had brains, all the better.

Miss Pamela Clark, Bedens Brook Road, Skillman, director of professional services for the cooperative test division, ETS: I'll take an ample sampling of both.

Miss Betty Kurkjian, Princeton Hospital, bookkeeper: Actually, I think that man should have more intelligence than brawn. With the world situation the way it is, brains are the more important. However, it's nice to have a husky man around the house.

Mrs. Ernest Evans, 62 Clear view Avenue, housewife: I don't prefer one to the exclusion of the other. I like a nice, average combination of both—which I think I have.

Mrs. George Bent, 440 Walnut Lane, housewife: Let's have some of both!

Mrs. Evon Kochey, Princeton Junction, housewife: I have no preference. I love them all.

Miss Johanne Madden, 9 Mercer Street, secretary: It depends on what you want them for. If you want them to lift a sofa, then one with a few muscles is good. But if you want a stimulating discussion on the dynamics of faith, then you could use one with a few brains. But I really think they are all great.

Mrs. Burt Myrick, 30 Pierson Avenue, Penns Neck, housewife: Both. Brains to bring home the bacon, and brawn to do the work around the house.

Miss Kersti Alm, 34 Vandeventer, secretary: They should have both but there are very few men who do. He should look manly but also have a brain, too. Men always want to be superior to women, anyway.

Miss Jennie Murphy, 29 Hillside Avenue, clerk: As far as I'm concerned, both are of equal importance.

DECK THE HALLS: Working hard on Saturday to decorate the Y Building were Elaine Leypoldt (left) and Gail Johnston, both of Kendall Park. The girls sang in the teenaged choir Sunday when a Christmas tableau was presented with musical background by the YWCA teen clubs. The three and four-year-olds in the creative theatre group presented "The 12 Days of Christmas" as part of the afternoon festivities. Over 200 had "pot luck" supper following the performances. Topics Of The Town

Mrs. Stoddard became interested in the Santons during World War II, when the Stoddards took a little French girl, Cecile Theis, in to live with them. She wasn't able to find any of the little figures, however, until 1948, three years after Cecile had returned to France, when the Stoddards went to visit her there.

This will be the first year that the Stoddards' daughter will not be present to join in the ceremony of displaying the scenes. Ann, now married and living on Long Island, is expecting a baby in January and her parents plan to spend Christmas on Long Island with her. The fairy tale characters will be in their accustomed places in the Stoddards' living room in Princeton, however, and Mrs. Stoddard is looking forward to having her friends' children come to see them during the week after Christmas.

"I couldn't bear not having our Christmas display," she said with a smile. "After all, it was these scenes which brought me one of my greatest compliments. It was from a little boy, and he said, 'Mrs. Stoddard's house is just like magic!' "

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED By First Aid Auxiliary. The Women's Auxiliary of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad elected the following officers at their last meeting: Mrs. Margery Davison, president; Mrs. Kathryn Buckalew, vice-president; Mrs. Joyce Pettengill, secretary; and Mrs. Joan Ainsworth, treasurer.

Elected as trustees were Mrs. Emma Fowler, Mrs. Louise Fugill and Mrs. Betty McClosky. Installation of the new officers will take place at the December meeting and will be followed by a Christmas party. Included in the party committee are Mrs. Marilyn Wilson, Mrs. Jean Rodweller, Mrs. Fugill (chairman), Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Pettengill and Mrs. Ainsworth.

NURSERY SCHOOL TO MOVE To Princeton Jewish Center. The Nassau Cooperative Nursery School, a non-sectarian and interracial organization, will hold classes for its second semester in the Princeton Jewish Center. First semester classes were held at the Quaker Meeting House.

The second semester will open January 4. Registrations for children ages three to four are now being accepted by Mrs. Raymond Male, WA 4-2286, and Mrs. John Redding, WA 4-4005. Classes are held from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday. Tuition is $20 per month. Mrs. John Liebenstein and Mrs. Daniel S. Koltun are instructors.

GRADING UNDERWAY At Western Electric Center. First step in the construction of the two new laboratory buildings at Western Electric Company's Engineering Research Center on Carter Road, Hopewell Township, was taken last week with the start of grading and site preparation. The work, which is being done by Hess Brothers of Parlin, is expected to take about four months.

Contract for construction of the buildings will be let early in 1960. The first building is expected to be ready for occupancy in the latter part of 1960.

First permanent units of the center, the two buildings will accommodate a staff of 300. There will be a main laboratory, about 460 feet long and 60 feet deep, to be set approximately 1,000 feet back from Carter Road. The other, a laboratory-service building, will be located behind the main laboratory. It will be about 120 by 170 feet.

MAN ON HORSEBACK: That's the Gold Knight at the far right, one of 10 nine-inch models designed by Aaron Sloin (above) and his partner, Nicholas Carnevale. Next to the Gold Knight are two others, one from Vienna, one from medieval Nurmberg. The authentic figures retail for 98c, although the Gold Knight costs $2.00 more, the horse market being what it is. (Staff Photo)

BUSINESS In Princeton

HE DESIGNS MODELS

Authentic and Successful. "I've always been interested in armor," says Aaron Sloin, "and that's what I thought of first when I decided to design models."

The proprietor of the Radio Center, 14 Witherspoon Street, experimented 11 years ago before the days of plastic, with a copper knight model which would be molded from steel plates. He tried to make the steel molds himself, but he abandoned the idea as impractical. Later he he tried balsa wood but that was too costly, so he gave up the model-designing hobby altogether for seven years.

Then, in 1964, he talked over the idea of plastic knight models with Nicholas Carnevale of Blawenburg. Mr. Carnevale was impressed with the possibilities of the little figures and so the two men, with Meyer Rubenstein of Wilmington, formed Crown Plastics, Incorporated.

Using the authentic medieval armor designs worked out by Mr. Sloin, Crown Plastics had three hand-made samples done by a model maker. One was the Silver Knight, one was the Black Knight, one was the Red Knight, and all three went off with Mr. Sloin to the toy fair in Grand Rapids.

There, in true Horatio Alger—if not medieval romance—fashion, the models were an instant success and thousands were sold from those samples. Aurora Plastics of West Hempstead, Long Island—"one of the biggest in the business," says Mr. Sloin—offered to buy all of Crown Plastics' assets in return for royalties.

Since then, Mr. Sloin and Mr. Carnevale have poured over the books in order to seek out authentic details for seven other models: Crusader, Gold Knight on Horse, Viking, Blue Knight and Three Musketeers.

They are now at work on a new model which they hope Aurora will accept. A balsa wood mock-up has been hand carved and Mr. Sloin hopes that, if it passes, it will be in production in 1960. Its details are a carefully guarded secret because the danger of theft is constant in the model business.

"It's a question of who gets there fustest with the most secrecy," says Mr. Sloin. "You can't patent a model, and anybody can pirate those already in production. Ours haven't been pirated, probably because Aurora is such a strong company that it's hard to compete with them."

The model making process is almost entirely automatic, Mr. Sloin says. Plastic, in the form of a grainy solid, is poured into an electric hopper which heats it automatically to a liquid. From the hopper it is injected into a steel die at a pressure of 2,000 pounds per square inch.

As the plastic is extruded, cold water flows through channels in the die, cooling the liquid and solidifying it. Then the die automatically opens and out steps Athos. The plastic factory uses what ever basic color is required; the model maker paints on the decorative color himself.

"Half a million models of our first three Knights were turned out in the beginning," Mr. Sloin recalls. "Production tapered off after that, of course, but Aurora is still turning them out. They are distributed all over the world, and I hear from people who've found them in Brussells, London, everywhere."

ALLEN'S OPENS BRANCH

In Hightstown. Allen's Children's Shop, a part of the Nassau Street retail picture since 1949, has expanded its operations by opening a branch in Hightstown. The new store, located on the "point" at the corner of Main and Mercer, opened its doors on December 4.

The Hightstown store occupies a newly-completed building. Murray Abelson, owner of the two shops, has stocked the 2,000 square feet of his new establishment with the same items he carries in Princeton: infants and children's clothing, toys, children's furniture and maternity clothes.

Mrs. Edward Tabler, formerly with the Princeton store, is manager of the Hightstown branch. Her associate is Mrs. Clara Esch of Hightstown.

TURNER HEADS COMMITTEE

To Work with Trust Unit. The Trust Committee of the New Jersey Bankers Association, linking its aims with the New Jersey Bar Association, has formed a committee to coordinate their respective efforts in the field of estate planning.

The laws regarding real property, personal property and probate procedure will be studied at the same time. Named to head the committee representing the New Jersey Trust Group is Gilbert C. Turner, vice-president and trust officer of the First National Bank of Princeton.

CHISLETT IN NEW POST

Secretary to N. J. Contractors. Richard E. Chislett of Rosedale Road has been appointed secretary of the Mechanical Contractors Association of New Jersey, Inc. Mr. Chislett was formerly secretary-treasurer of the National Constructors Association in New York City.

He has previously been associated with the Trenton and Newark Chambers of Commerce. A graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Chislett and his family have lived here since 1939, with the exception of 1953 to 1957, when he was chief of the Employer Relations Service, International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland.

HAMNER PAYS DIVIDEND

Sales Increase. Lloyd Hamner, president of the Hamner Electronics Corporation of Princeton, has announced payment of the first dividend on the firm's Class C preferred stock bearing seven percent. Dividends were paid on Tuesday to stockholders on record as of last September 30.

Sales have increased each year since the corporation's establishment in 1955, Mr. Hamner reported. Sales for 1958-59 were $595,920, as compared to $108,172 in 1957-58 and $126,558 in 1955-56, the first year. All organization and development expenses have been paid off and the firm is in the black, the president said.

PRINCETONIANS TO PLAY

In Annual Hockey Tournament. A dozen residents of the Princeton area are members of three of the eight teams entered in the 12th annual Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament. Play will begin this Thursday afternoon, continue Friday afternoon and evening, with the final rounds set for Saturday morning and afternoon.

Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., scheduled to meet the Nichols School of Buffalo in a first-round game at 6 Thursday evening in Baker Rink, will bring the largest delegation of Princetonians to the ice where they learned their first hockey. Webb Harrison and Hugh Wise are co-captains of this entry, making its first appearance in the tournament since 1952.

Harrison, an all-New England prep school choice in football as a halfback on Andover's unbeaten gridiron team, is a wing and Wise a center. George Peterson of Hopewell is another wing.

Andover's defense includes a pair consisting of Fritz Mock and Charlie Stuart. Harrison, Wise and Mock are seniors. Peterson is an upper middler (junior) and Stuart a lower middler. Jobe Stevens, also a junior at Andover, likewise plays defense but is currently side-lined by a knee injury. All six are graduates of Princeton Country Day School and Harrison, Stevens and Stuart each won the PCD trophy as the best all-around athlete in their respective senior years.

Lawrenceville, the host team, has four Princetonians on its squad. Included are Dick Rotnem —like Harrison, a member of an unbeaten football team as the Red and Black defeated all comers for the second year in a row; Bobby Dorf, Ray Carter and Steve Robinson. The first two are seniors, the latter juniors.

Two Princetonians will skate for the Choate School. They are Dave Kelley, who is also a starting member on the soccer team at the Wallingford, Conn., school, and Nixon Hare. Kelley is a junior, Hare is in his first year at Choate.

PHS ALUMNI COMING TO TOWN: Lee (left) and Alan Ammerman, both graduates of Princeton High School, will play for the Rutgers basketball team against Princeton Thursday night in Dillon Gym.

First-Round Pairings. The first game on Thursday's schedule sends Choate against Ridley School, one of the two Canadian teams in the tournament. It will be played at 2:30 in Baker Rink.

The second and third games on Thursday's list will be staged at Lawrenceville, weather permitting. The Taft School will face the University of Toronto Schools, the other Canadian entry, with Lawrenceville opposing Belmont Hill.

If the weather allows outdoor play, the first contest at Lawrenceville will be staged at 2:45, with the second starting at 4. In the event of inclement weather, the starting times in Baker Rink will be 2:15, 3:25, 4:40 and 6 p.m.

A total of 120 boys from the eight schools will be here, sleeping in upperclass eating clubs on Prospect Avenue and eating at Osborne Field House, training headquarters for Princeton varsity teams. A dinner for all players and coaches will be held Thursday night at the Nassau Inn.

The schedule pits the losers of the first - round round games against each other Friday afternoon, with the four victors meeting in semi-final contests Friday night. All these games will be played in Baker Rink.

Saturday's schedule will begin at 8:30 a.m., with succeeding con-

ASA S. BUSHNELL

Athletic Commissioner

It was in 1937 that Asa S. Bushnell left the Princeton campus as director of athletics to take charge of the brand new Central Office for Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics. At the time, officials for hundreds of contests in a score of different sports were being appointed on a hit-or-miss basis that often created conflict among colleges; the intricate process of scheduling events in these same sports was a burdensome, drawn-out affair; and there was little or no opportunity for representatives of dozens of eastern colleges to gather under one roof to discuss myriad matters of common interest.

Last week, they gave Bushnell the James Lynah Memorial Award for two-decades plus of accomplishments in the position, but the presentation might just as well have been made three or four years after he had first been named to fill it. In that short period of time, the process of appointing officials had been streamlined, their rate of pay stabilized and the vital business of rules interpretation steadily improved; college athletic schedules were largely completed during a few days of side-by-side planning, rather than through weeks of lengthy correspondence; and matters of policy were discussed and formalized at annual "summit conferences" in a manner never before available to athletic directors.

Vastly improved, too, in a way that benefited players, coaches and spectators alike were the numerous championship events in basketball, track, crew, wrestling and other sports. Time and again, unified direction and efficient procedure replaced a degree of informality that took its toll of participants and spectators' pleasure.

World War II cut heavily into intercollegiate athletics, despite their value as training programs for men preparing for military service, but with the return of a normal life, Bushnell's guidance of his coordinated colleges brought many a new dividend. The Central Office was renamed the Eastern College Athletic Conference, and its numerous affiliates turned increasingly to the Commissioner for guidance and services that he and his staff could perform.

The Lynah Award is the fifth of a major nature that Bushnell, a Princetonian for better than 40 years, has received in recognition of outstanding services to intercollegiate athletics. Each has been increasingly deserved.

tests at 9 10 and 11 a.m., the latter the consolation final. The championship game, with the Piel Memorial Trophy at stake, will be held Saturday at 2:30 in the Rink. The late William Piel, a founder of the tournament and a Princeton resident, died in 1952.

Dr. Charles R. Erdman Jr is chairman of the tournament committee, with Harrison Fraker serving as treasurer. Other members are James Carey, Christopher R. P. Rodgers, William C. Stryker, Lawrence H. Tiffonen, Richard B Whitney, Donald R. Young and George C. Young.

BASKETBALL VS. RUTGERS

In Gym Thursday at 8. The final home athletic event on Princeton University's schedule before the Christmas holidays will be staged Thursday night at 8 when the basketball team faces Rutgers. The Scarlet will be seeking its first triumph over the Tigers in six years, a period that has seen the Orange and Black run up 11 straight victories in the rivalry.

Included on the visitors' squad are brothers Lee and Alan Ammerman. The latter, back on the team after a year's ineligibility, averaged ten points a game two seasons ago as a sophomore. Lee was credited with 221 points last winter as a freshman.

Princeton and Rutgers have met one opponent in common, each losing to Temple at Philadelphia After leading by 14 points in the first half, the Tigers succumbed, 68-65; Rutgers was beaten three days later, 75 to 61.

Cappy Cappon's forces were hot in the opening minutes of their game with the Owls, breaking away from an 11-all deadlock to take a 28-14 advantage. However, the home town pared the margin to 30-34 by half-time, drew even an 55-all and was never headed thereafter.

Sophomore Bill Campbell, justifying early-season optimism as he continues to average in double figures, paced Princeton with 18 points. Captain Jim Brangan and junior Don Swan each accounted for 15 A 29-point performance by Bill "Pickles" Kennedy, Temple's All-American candidate, was the principal factor in bringing the victors from behind

Navy Wins by Ten. After losing three straight to Princeton, Navy turned the tables on the Tigers at Annapolis Saturday, winning 57 to 47. The Tigers had a 6-0 lead in the early minutes but trailed by 29-21 at the half and their game-average from the floor was only 31 percent compared to 52 percent for Navy.

Brangan paced the losers with 16 and Campbell chipped in with 14, but the Tigers lacked shooting balance. Hopes are that 6-4 Al Kaemmerlen may be ready after Christmas, since he has now reported after sitting out the first month of pre-season practice while recovering from a knee operation.

SKATERS HEAD NORTH

Two Games in 24 Hours. Expecting to be at full strength for its Massachusetts invasion, Princeton's hockey team will travel this weekend to face two of the top teams in the east. The Tigers take on Boston College at Chestnut Hill Friday night and will face Boston University the following afternoon at Cambridge, in a game scheduled for Harvard's Watson Rink.

Lance Odden's anticipated return to the second line, following a two-game absence with an ankle sprain, will help the Tigers but a triumph in either game will rank as an upset. The Orange and Black surprised Boston College two seasons ago with an 8-2 victory but the Eagles are normally out of range. Princeton hasn't beaten B U. since 1913.

The team's second victory in three starts against a college opponent was recorded Saturday night when Army was defeated 3-1 The first line (Captain John McBride, Pete Cook and Tony Pell) shared scoring honors, beating the cadet goalie in the order named.

The visitors scored first but Princeton drew even before the opening period ended as McBride jammed the disc in after skating behind the Army cage. A scoreless second round followed, but Cook pushed a rebound from Tony Pell's stick into the nets at 1:17 of the third stanza. Pell added an insurance goal at 6:54, beating the visitors' goalie on a sharp shot from 10 feet out as he was skating parallel to the cage a dozen feet out.

Friday night saw Providence College run up a 5-0 lead before three last-period goals by the Tigers cut the final margin to 6-3. McBride got the first, followed by Bill Miller and Paul Burgert.

Defensive improvement, particularly on clearing passes, is essential for the team, which now heads into four road games during the holidays before returning to Baker Rink early in January. Improved play by the first line was a welcome part of the victory over Army, since accurate passing leading to a steady output of goals from this trio is essential to the team's success this year. In addition to scoring three times, McBride, Cook and Pell played a major part in Army's inability to score while the Tigers twice had two men in the penalty box.

Industry in New Jersey IS GROWING... thanks to Research?

Many fine "Blue Chip" industries are growing in New Jersey, the Crossroads of the East.

One of the chief reasons for this continuing growth is the fact that New Jersey has such fine research centers. Over ten per cent of the nation's research facilities are concentrated here. There are more than 500 research units in this area, long known as the "Semi-Circle of Science".

New Jersey has served as the birthplace for many technological developments. It is estimated that expenditures for research within the state exceed $500,000,000 a year.

These outstanding facilities are just one reason why industry grows at the Gateway to World Markets.

You should be happy and proud to be a part of New Jersey—

High School's basketball team to win its first game of the season Friday at Hightstown's expense. The Blue and White recorded a 43-36 triumph on the losers' court.

Jim Barbour with 15 points and Ted Meredith with a dozen paced the victors, in a contest that was deadlocked at 18-all at half-time. PHS took a 29-27 lead as the third quarter ended, fell behind briefly, and then scored ten points in a row to even its record at 1-1.

A game with Freehold, scheduled for Wednesday of this week, and a contest with Trenton High School Friday will complete December action for the Little Tigers. The latter contest will be played at Trenton.

HUN WINS OPENER

Tops Bryn Athyn, 56-30. Led by Tommy Petrone's 15 points, the Hun School basketball team opened its season Friday with a 56-30 triumph over Bryn Athyn on the Princeton Seminary Gym court.

The Red and Black took an 18-13 lead before the first period ended, and then dropped in 13 more in the second round while holding Bryn Athyn to four. Hun was scheduled to go to New Hope, Pa., Wednesday to meet Solebury in the final game before Christmas vacation. Action will resume January 9 against Pennington.

Two on All-Star Team

Two Princeton High School football players were named to the All-Delaware Valley High School team selected by the Trenton Sunday Times-Advertiser. End Ridge Applegate and halfback Jack Hawkins, key figures in the Little Tigers' surge to a 5-2-1 record and the Mercer County championship, were honored by the selection.

Guard Dave Smith was a nominee for the second team. Others listed were guard Dave McKee and halfback Ross Perone, selected for places on the fourth team.

The Times-Advertiser named Paul Kadlic to its All-Prep School team, the Hun School halfback earning the distinction for a second year in a row. Kadlic's father was quarterback on Princeton's standout teams of 1933 and '34.

News Of The CHURCHES

LIVING NATIVITY SET

For Hopewell Church. Members of Calvary Baptist Church, 3 East Broad Street, Hopewell, will participate in a living portrayal of the nativity scene as part of the church's Christmas observance. The scene, which is staged on the church lawn, can be seen this Sunday through next Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

A stable is built on the church lawn especially for the portrayal. In addition, live sheep and a live donkey are borrowed for the occasion.

BULLETIN NOTES

The annual Christmas dinner and worship service of Calvary Baptist Church will be held this Friday at 7 p.m.

A community Christmas Eve candlelight service will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Kingston Methodist Church. A special feature will be the Christmas cantata, "The Shepherd and His Lamb."

AN INFLATION HEDGE

We have recently purchased for a client 35 acres with a trout stream, a 20x12 building, about $500 to $400 of standing timber; located 25 miles from a New England College Town "Ivy League."

This cost our purchaser $400 plus $2 for recording the deed. Our fee was $175 for services rendered.

We are not realtors, but a service organization helping people enjoy good living from the land.

May we help you?

"House Hunting?" . . .
People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods. Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files — on your lot or our land. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display Home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk

From the center of Princeton go east on Nassau St. for 1 mile, turn left on Snowden Lane to Franklin Ave., left 1 block and right on Grover Ave. to 136 Randall Rd. and Display Home.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

If you intend to do some looking for land or a house during the year-end season, come to Hopewell Township right next door. It is a really big township. (Several times larger than Princeton Township and Borough combined). "Old Nopewell" is a historic and beautiful area, strategically located. The prices are reasonable and the territory pleasant. Have Margaret Drury or Elaine Schuman show you some of the lovely spots of this part of "Old Hunterdon."

PRINCETON BOROUGH
Our best buy — absolutely. A large duplex, centrally located and excellently maintained. All seven rooms are light and well ventilated, the plumbing and roof have been renewed. Three bedrooms on second floor will accommodate a medium size family. Act quickly.
$13,500

PRINCETON BOROUGH
This Cape Cod will sell quickly—the price is right and the location convenient. The first floor has living room with dining space, family kitchen, two bedrooms and bath. Second floor planned and partially finished has two bedrooms and bath. Loads of extra space in full dry basement and two-car attached garage. Good value.
$19,500

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP
(Carter Road) Here we have a hill-top location, privacy and accessibility. The six-room cottage has two bedrooms and bath on first floor, plus expansion room on second. A large barn on two acres makes this ideal for either the young, growing family or the older families with outdoor interests. Reduced.
$23,500

RENTALS
Lawrenceville: Six room, unfurnished house, three bedrooms, one bath. Available immediately to a responsible small family.
$125 per month

Princeton: Garages, central Borough, 12 spaces in a heated storage garage.
$20 per month

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP
Here is a rural gem about a mile from the Valley Road School, yet is quiet and private as a recluse would have it. The room arrangement of this cottage is based on the front to back split level principle: There is a living room with a fireplace; a den; separate dining room, three bedrooms and one bath. Transferred owner requests immediate action.
$24,500

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP
NASSAU ESTATES: 17 Jill Lane. This is the different Split-level; it has the standard room arrangement of seven rooms, three bedrooms, one full and two half baths, a large family room etc.; however, it also has the full potential of a quiet residential street, perfect maintenance, and well thought out arrangements for the owners convenience. Down payment and carrying cost are easy to meet: down payment $5400, monthly carrying cost $124.
$20,500

PRINCETON BOROUGH
A case for the large town house where one may walk to shopping, school and activities; its structural condition is as good as new; and its center hall floor plan still very popular. There are four corner bedrooms, one and one half baths; den and large living room with fireplace. Realistically priced.
